

University of Texas Health Science Center
Lab Manager

Our laboratory, Translational Biomimetic Bioelectronics Lab, needs an experienced researcher and engineer to manage laboratory activity, run electrical benchtop experiments, and perform basic electronics assembly such as soldering, solder reflow, laser cutting. Organization, communication, and enthusiasm for science are critical skills for this position. We intend for this position to be long-term with growth and advancement especially as fabrication and testing skills progress.

www.seymourlab.org